Pet Festival 2023
Pavilions 5 & 6
3-5/02/2023

An exhibition of animal love, learning, joy and creation!

As part of the 12th International Exhibition Zootechnia 2023, the successful Pet Festival section continues to offer visitors, guardians and friends of all companion animals, the opportunity to be informed about various issues of living together with their little friends. The visitors will learn about their education, nutrition and health and they will meet professionals, who will recommend the most modern services and the best quality products.

Moreover, they will be informed about smart and educational accessories, toys, care and grooming services, dog and cat hotels, as well as about many other interests that can make the life of a small "household" friend, feathered or fluffy, more pleasant and easy.

Visitors will also be able to chat with experts about their specialized needs, gather valuable information, take part in original competitions and win lots of prizes.

In addition, in the two large auditoriums that will be created within the dedication, excellent speakers will be invited, and who will refer to all the new trends and developments in the world of companion animals and will answer key questions from those interested.

Poultry egg producer
Animal Science Laboratory of the Department of Veterinary Medicine of the Aristotle University of Thessaloniki
Sector B7 / Stand 4
2-5/02/2023

Animal Science Laboratory of the Department of Veterinary Medicine of the Aristotle University of Thessaloniki

Egg-producing poultry farming is one of the most dynamic branches of domestic livestock farming with continuous development both in the field of livestock equipment and applied nutrition.

The Animal Husbandry Laboratory and the Nutrition Laboratory of the Department of Veterinary Medicine of the School of Health Sciences of the Aristotle University of Thessaloniki, with the support of HELEXPO, will highlight the Greek egg through their long-term research experience in the development of innovative egg products and the adoption of good breeding practices.

In collaboration with the company GEOTHERMIKI S.A., a pioneer in the Greek market in the construction of metal structures, a new integrated proposal for a chicken coop will be presented, with a capacity of 300 chickens, which, based on the logic of LEGO constructions, can be expanded to an unlimited size. This construction will incorporate all the modern breeding technology in combination with minimal operating costs.
